

Program At-a-Glance

Overview: As part of The White House Joining Forces Initiative, Deloitte committed to doubling our veteran hiring over a 3-year period. Challenged to do more, we created the CORE Programs to help transitioning military service members translate their leadership abilities into a business context. The CORE Fundamentals Program is a high-energy, hands-on workshop designed to equip transitioning service members with personalized guidance and resources to identify and obtain an ideal career in the civilian workforce.

"The curriculum was spot on and the presented resources were effective tools for transitioning officers. This is just the type of thing Vets need to hear before transitioning...."

"I got more out of those 5 hours than I did in 5 days of TAP."

– June 2015 CORE Fundamentals Participants

Learner Profile: Enlisted or Commissioned Military that have separated from the armed forces in the past 12 months OR active duty members who will be separating in the next 6 months. The program is designed to support the diverse population of transitioning veterans. As the program is designed to support the diverse population of transitioning veterans, there are no other prerequisites or restrictions (e.g., educational level).

Outcomes: Leveraging Deloitte's award-winning leadership curriculum, CORE Fundamentals uses an immersive environment to enable veterans to achieve the following outcomes:

- 1) Know yourself by identifying your unique strengths and experiences to build a personal brand
- 2) Know your fit to help target career opportunities based on your personal brand, interests and priorities
- 3) Know who can help by de-mystifying networking and exploring the power of networks
- 4) Tell your story in a way that resonates with others, including potential employers
